INTRODUCTION

This is the second volume of the Marvels of God collection. I don't know precisely how many volumes I will publish since there are billions of wonders that God created. I have been talking about the wonders of God evident in botany, zoology, natural sciences, physics and chemistry among other fields of human knowledge where the Creator's signatures permeate.

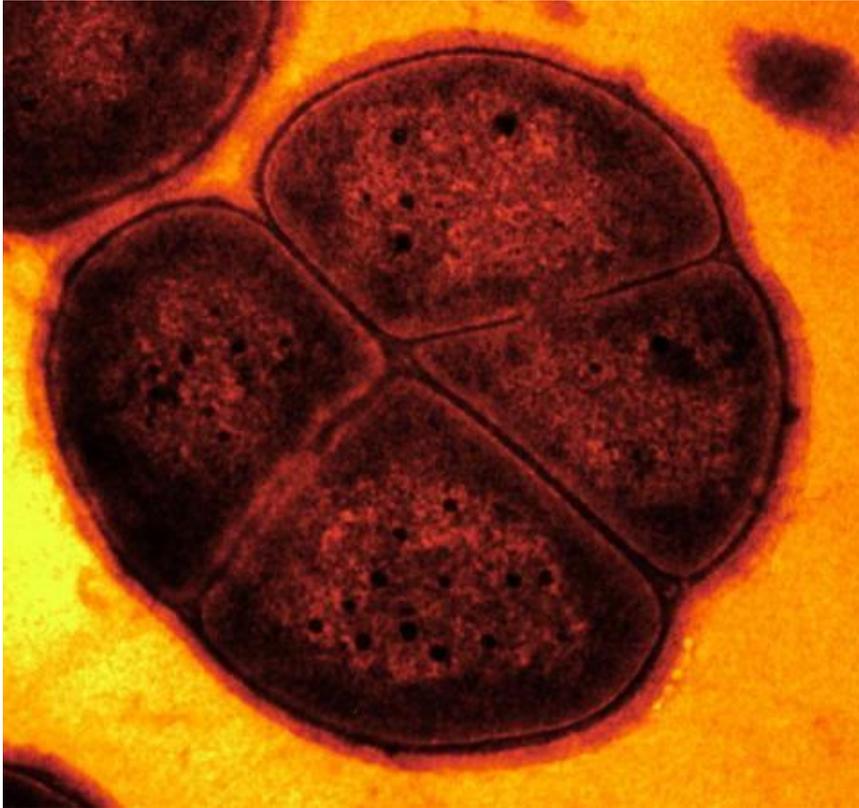

When you realize that every detail of the universe that surrounds us has a purpose, that nothing is unfinished, it becomes clear that there is a very intelligent mind behind the universe, and not only intelligent, but very powerful to be able to put your ideas to term. This BEING creates matter out of nothing, this BEING has all the resources of the universe in its power, this BEING has programmed each creature as a software embedded in the DNA of each living being. In the end there is no escape from God.

God does not fear rebellion from creatures, God does not need anything, God likes to be liked by people who spontaneously love him. He created man with an intellectual capacity totally different from other creatures.

This privileged human intelligence must come to understand part of the divine purposes, and surely God expects this from men.

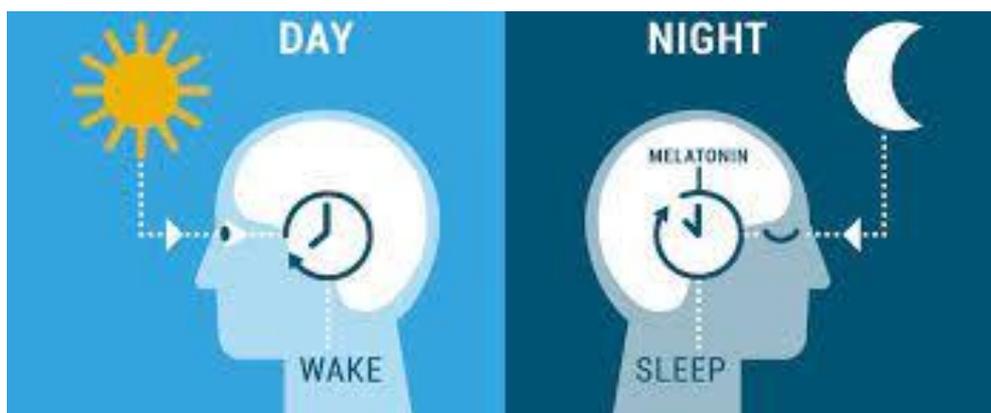

1 - D. Radiodurans, wonder of God.

With a radiation of a thousand ionized rads a human being dies. But this microbe is the world champion in withstanding radiation. It supports a discharge of up to one and a half million rads. The gift that God gave to this little animal was discovered in 1950, when a can with food received a high discharge of radiation and the guy was found inside without a single scratch. I bet he didn't even know he had this gift. Scientists cannot understand why evolution would have equipped this being with such a sophisticated anti-radiation system...

2 - Circadian rhythms, wonders of God.

The Most High determined day and night by creating the circadian rhythms which means the 24 hour day cycle. Animals and plants also have their metabolisms influenced by the photoperiod, that is, the period of exposure to light. Even cell proteins react differently during the day than at night. We must respect the biological clock that God has given us. All of nature slows down in winter due to circadian rhythms, as the days are shorter.

3 - Round seeds, wonders of God.

Nature is all planned, nothing is without use, if blind evolution were true there would be more deformed species than perfect ones, but the scandalous TRUTH is that there is not a living species in transmutation. Imagine if there were square or triangular seeds? They wouldn't roll, and animals would have a hard time shitting them... But the designer God created the seeds almost all round, oval and without corners to facilitate dissemination.

4 - Nature, wonder of God.

We call nature the set of all created things. Through written books we know part of the writer, through architectural work we know part of the builder, through paintings we know part of the artist. Through nature we can know in part the power, intelligence, and character of God. As important as knowing how to read letters is knowing how to read what God wrote in the book of nature.

5 - African catfish, wonder of God.

Considered a pest in America when mistakenly introduced here, as it is a voracious predator. He can climb out of the water, eat grass, and kill ducks for food! Can breathe out of water. By messing with God's chessboard and introducing the catfish to other environments without natural predators, the African catfish caused the extinction of several species of animals and plants. Human greed is messing up the board, and God is just watching...

6 - Pupunha, wonder of God.

This Palm tree, originally from the Peruvian Amazon, has adapted well to the Atlantic Forest, for which God provides leaves that serve to close walls or roofs. Its fibrous stem is used as animal feed, its fruits as food for birds and raw material for flour and sweets, its roots intertwine and prevent collapse and erosion, the apex of the stem is the most valuable delicacy, the pupunha heart of palm. God has hours that he abuses in blessing us with a single species of living being.

7 - Lizards, wonders of God.

Animal not only harmless, but useful to men, since it eats mosquitoes, including those that are vectors of diseases such as dengue. If humanity continues to be at war with God's other creatures, the divine solution is to stop the cause of the imbalance. In the book of Revelation it is written: "It is time to destroy those who destroy the earth." It's not plausible to kill a gecko on the wall just because it doesn't match the decor. Maybe God thinks YOU don't match the creation that is His decoration...

8 - Hurricanes, wonders of God.

The difference between medicine and poison is the dosage. God created hurricanes and even made "houses" for them. Some geographic regions of the world are known as "hurricane corridors", the most famous being the American Midwest which includes the Gulf of Mexico. Those who live in these corridors know what is destined to happen... Hurricanes renew forests, stir up the soil and oxygenate the seas. They are born from the marriage of polar air masses with humid winds, they live only a few hours or days.

9 - Crying of the bees, marvel of God.

I recently attended a lecture in which the biologist speaker, career beekeeper, now a businessman, taught the audience to know the sounds of bees, and I was moved when he said that when the queen and mother of all workers in the hive dies, you can hear when passing near the hive, the lament of 50 to 100 thousand bees. God is love and his creatures are capable of loving one another.

10 - Apis mellifera, marvel of God.

Popularly known as the European bee, the queen of the hive during the day walks among her sudden and daughters with her royal escort, in the middle of that "city" the queen touches the bees that are close to her, and these touch the others that cannot reach to the queen, but God's purpose is that the queen's scent reaches all bees. Contact is daily with all 50 thousand of her daughters. And us humans? Do we learn to touch and pass on our "pheromone" to our children?
